

For Immediate Release

An Exclusive High Performance Driving Experience for 2012 Boss® 302 Owners at Miller Motorsports Park

TOOELE VALLEY, UTAH (October 26, 2011) — The Ford Racing High Performance Driving School, based at Miller Motorsports Park in Tooele, Utah, has announced the 2012 Boss Track Attack program.

The Boss Track Attack, a cooperative program between Ford Racing and the Ford Racing High Performance Driving School, allows owners of the new Mustang Boss® 302 to attend a one-day driving school to learn the capabilities of their cars and sharpen their driving skills. This is an unprecedented program for Ford, and the initial sessions held in 2011 were enthusiastically received by Boss® 302 owners, with the program being booked at 100% capacity.

“The Boss Track Attack has been a great addition to our curriculum at the Ford Racing High Performance Driving School,” said Dan McKeever, Director of Track Operations and Performance Schools at Miller Motorsports Park. “Ford Racing has been a great partner for us, and we were honored to have been chosen to host this program. It fits in perfectly with our existing schools, and we’re looking forward to continuing the program in 2012.”

2012 Boss Track Attack Schedule Announced

Thursday, 27 October 2011 08:29 - Last Updated Sunday, 27 July 2014 12:43

For information regarding the racing Boss Track Attack program, click here, or call Media

Contact:

John Gardner, Media Manager, Miller Motorsports Park, (435) 277-8101; or email .

?

Related Links:

Learn more about Ford Motor Company

Learn more about the 2012 Mustang Boss@ 302